FOOTBALL hero Linvoy Primus dropped into Park Gate to deliver his message that hundreds of children in Hampshire can have a more positive future.

Linvoy, who lives in Sarisbury Green, and fellow footballer Lee Bradbury scored a hit with fans when they attended the launch of the new Letco lettings agency.

And the Portsmouth FC defender lost no time in broadcasting how his charity, Faith and Football, makes a big difference to youngsters between the ages of seven and 13 who would otherwise hang about on the streets and drift into boredom and alcohol.

Due to a knee injury, Linvoy has been able to devote more of his time to the charity which has eight leagues in the area of Paulsgrove, Summerstown, Buckland, Leigh Park and Gosport.

He has been able to speak to school assemblies to show the local benefits of the charity which has been going for seven years locally and has now moved into Birmingham.

Committed Christian Linvoy told the Informer: " We use football as a platform for serving, for developing relationships, placing the church at the centre of communities and providing positive role models for young people as well as developing life skills."

Lee, who plays for Bournemouth FC, also helps out whenever he can.

Oliver, of Letco, said: " We are delighted to be serving the local community just as Linvoy and Lee do."
